Eemax® Delivers Comfort and Cleanliness After the Storm

WATERBURY, CT: March 15, 2021, Eemax, Inc.

Weather can wreak havoc and disrupt daily living no matter the season. During a disaster recovery time period, finding solutions to support basic handwashing and cleanliness can be a challenge. Eemax MiniTank™ provides immediate hot water in small quantities designed to bring relief and peace of mind.

In response to the multitude of challenges experienced this winter across the United States, Eemax product development teams worked together to design a quick solution to address residential water heating disruptions that often follow extreme weather events. Being able to restore one of comforts we depend every day can now be more quickly and easily realized. Installation diagrams and detailed Storm Relief: Do It Yourself Instructions can be found on eemax.com

“Eemax is committed to facilitating ways for our communities to access safe and reliable hot water,” explains Jens Bolleyer, vice president and general manager at Eemax. “This new product application is much like the solutions our distribution partners and engineering teams collaborated on for mobile water heating to support handwashing in COVID-19 field hospitals in early 2020.”
